of the export of cotton has been able to arrest the steeply rising trend in the prices of raw cotton.

(c) Government have permitted duty-free import of 5 lakh bales of cotton, estimated to cost about US $ 169 million at prevailing international prices by spinning mills. The countries from which, the cotton is intended to be imported are Eqypt Sudan; USA; CIS countries, Australia and some African countries.

(d) and (e) The Government's decision to allow duty-free import of cotton is expected to ease pressure on domestic availability of raw cotton and would be able to contain the upward rise in the cotton prices. The cotton prices are prevailing at 55% to 110 % above Minimum Support Price levels are therefore, quite remunerative for the cotton growers.
